

Start at CONSILIO Consulting America Inc. as soon as possible

(Senior) Consultant SAP S/4HANA Supply Chain Management (m/f/d)

Charlotte NC

This position requires a combination of strategic oversight, technical expertise, and a strong orientation towards client satisfaction and relationship management. We're looking for someone who can not only manage and develop our internal team but also drive successful outcomes for our clients.

Your Responsiblities

- Lead the development of comprehensive and specialized customer solutions within the SCM domain
- Oversee the strategic expansion and skill enhancement of our SAP S/4HANA team
- Manage significant portions of transformational projects aimed at process optimization
- Perform system integration tasks across SAP IBP & PP/DS, S/4 Manufacturing, and S/4 Logistic platforms
- Demonstrate exceptional communication abilities and methodological proficiency
- Act as the primary point of contact for our clients, focused on maintaining and growing client relationships

Your Profile

- A bachelor's degree or higher in Business Informatics, Industrial Engineering, or a related field
- Proven leadership experience with teams or in managing staff
- Extensive consulting background in SAP implementation projects within the SCM sphere, ideally involving IBP and PP/DS for the manufacturing or process industries
- A keen interest in emerging topics and the capability to adapt to new solutions and integration scenarios, such as Synchronized Planning with SAP IBP and embedded PP/DS
- A client-focused approach and excellent communication skills
- Availability to travel up to 60% of the time as required

Your Benefits

CONSILIO applies engineering thinking to business and IT challenges. Working with SAP, we help companies optimize existing systems, transform processes and architectures, and replace outdated solutions. Our consultants combine process expertise with functional and technical SAP knowledge. We help clients digitize and automate business processes across their organizations and become more competitive by using standard software effectively. Leading companies in Germany and worldwide rely on our experience, expertise, and ability to innovate because we understand their business.
